BRAZIL.

Rio Janeyro, 12th.—Nothing could exceed the enthusiasm of the popular reception accorded to Minister Bocayuva. The Portugal, on its arrival, was immediately surrounded by hundreds of little steamers and boats, and cheers for the Minister were vociferously indulged in. All this in spite of the rain, which came down in torrents.

NEW GOVERNMENTS.

The province of Santa Fe and the Republic of the Banda Oriental have both installed their new Governments, and in a few weeks the Province of Buenos Ayres will follow suit. In countries like these where change follows change so rapidly and new interests crop up and grow so very fast, it is probable that the frequent change of public men and of governments is a necessity. The Argentine Republic is as changed to-day from what it was when Juarez Celman entered as is public opinion: and if it were put to the vote of the people to-day, nine tenths of the population would vote for a change of administration

It is not impossible, although none of us see it, that the influence of example may affect the political situation of this country, and between night and morning our public men themselves bring about a change which, although desired, seems at the moment improbable.

In any other constitutional country, save this, the great depression that has come over everything would of itself have produced a change of Government, but here our public men are willing to survive their popularity rather than retire from office, which clearly shows that the wisdom of the Tucuman fathers when they framed the Argentine Constitution was at fault. Not that we wish to argue that at every turn in political affairs, or in the market, the Government should go out; but we stoutly maintain that when affairs take such a turn as they have here within the last six months, when public discontent becomes so general and complaint is heard on all sides, it is the duty of our public men to consult public opinion and make way for new men to direct, under new and changed circumstances, the affairs of the country.

It is indeed deserving of remark that both Montevideo and Santa Fe should at a moment so critical for this country, have new governments, whilst the Argentine Republic, which pines for a change, should be denied it; and if the patriotism and sound common sense of our rulers be insufficient to induce them to resign, then we must wade through 3 long years before we obtain what Santa Fe and Montevideo got but yesterday,

What we wish to point at is the break down of our democratic machinery in times like the present. Given the same state of things in England or in France, or in the United States, there would be a change of government in 24 hours. The publication of such a letter as Dr Davison's, with charges so tremendous against some of our public men, would in London have overturned Gladstone, Salisbury, or even Pitt. We all remember what the publication of the Wilson scandal led to in France; and yet here, where the government is republican and constitutional and based on the very freest institutions, such charges are made and the government still remains in office.

There is evidently a void, therefore, in the machinery of our Government. The present melancholy situation was never anticipated by the framers of our constitution. We want some reform to provide for such difficulties. The crisis in the market calls for remedy; if the present Government is unable to afford that remedy, then let it go out to make room for others who can grasp the difficulty and save the situation. The Davison letter is too serious a charge to be passed over in silence. Public morals demand that the matter be inquired into and refuted.

LAST SCENE

All the vituperation and recriminations which the article on Assassination in the Censor gave rise to have suddenly been brought to a full-stop by the appearance of the real author of the article on the scene. Dr. Drago's letter, which we give hereunder, terminates the question so far as the action for libel is concerned. But Dr. Navarro-Viola, who is unfortunately unwell, will not allow the matter to drop so quickly, and an evening colleague promises to publish to-day a formidable article from the distinguished lawyer. General Tajes's noble and patriotic conduct, strange as it may seem, has given rise to the whole storm. Fortunate indeed is it that the wisdom of the Urnguayan constitution does not allow a presidential election every twelve month. The Cerro would not hold all the statues to patriotic presidents, nor should we have one moment's peace on this side of the Plate. The following is Dr. Drago's letter.—

Buenos Ayres, March, 11th. 1890
To Dr Miguel Navarro Viola.
Sir.

The importance which the incident about the article "The Theory of Assassination in the Censor has assumed compels me to address myself to you as becoming a man of honor. As I was recently requested by my friend Mr. L. M. Gonnet to assist him in editing the Censor, which I have already done on different occasions, I have within the last few days published several leading articles, amongst others that which you have taken up as libellous, and which I wrote under the impressions left on me a afterperusal of your letter.

So long as it was a question of receiving praise from the President of the Republic, I kept in the back ground merely as a collaborator. But after the ideas published by you on the subject I must no longer remain silent. The article I wrote was the expression of my ideas, just as your letter was the expression of yours. I exercised the same right as you. Was I mistaken in my appreciation of the purport you gave to your views on Ortiz immediately after drawing a sombre picture of the situation here? To throw light on this point was quite sufficient. For my part, without fearing any ulterior consequences, as you might suppose, I am satisfied, as a man of honor, that you protest against the interpretation which, at first sight, would strike anyone reading your letter to Mr. Magariños Cervantes, and I now believe that, in reality, your pen went further than you intended.

But I am interested in the elucidation of another point—the motive you attribute to the writer of the article without knowing him.

Whether you or I be mistaken, I cannot allow your appreciations to pass unnoticed, and before defending myself I wish you to understand the facts of the case. It is not my fault if you are disgusted with what appeared to me to be the substratum of your letter and with the inferences which, according to my views, were to be drawn from your own words and doctrines.

Everyone understood your letter as I understood it; and the mere fact that both you and the President did not know who was the author of the article and would not have known but for your attacks on Mr. Gonnet, proves that my only motive was to combat a political letter and a pernicious political doctrine, without regard to party or faction.

I deemed it right to make public my opinions on a document which has had ample publicity through the most important papers of the Plate. So that your suppositions are groundless and I hope you will withdraw them.

I beg to remain, etc.
L. M. Drago.

Just before the curtain drops, however, Mr. L. M. Gonnet makes his appearance with the following brief and pertinent note:—

B. Ayres, March 10th
To Dr. Miguel Navarro-Viola.
Sir:

I have just read in the Diario of this evening, a telegram signed by you and addressed to the President of the Republic, from which telegram I make the following extract:—

"Since Y. E. has neglected the best opportunity to remain silent, in face of the misinterpretation of my words by the Censor, against which I had already brought an action for libel before reading your telegram, I invite Y. E. to withdraw your telegram out of respect for the country, independently of which Y. E. out of respect for yourself and to satisfy the public verdict, must treat as he deserves this calumniator who has led Y. E. into a mistake in which Y. E. has become entangled."

I invite you to withdraw the injurious expressions directed against me in the most gratuitous way.

Your refusal or your silence will justify my replying, in defence of my own personal dignity.

I beg to remain, etc.
L. M. Gonnet.

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent)

March 11th.

There can be little doubt that one of the principal causes of the critical financial situation of the country is the present inveterate distrust of the commercial body in their public men.

The people everywhere speak of their rulers in terms that demonstrate the utter loss of all confidence in them, in their acts, in their protestations and their projects. Hence every act of the Government is looked on with suspicion.

To bring the plague home to ourselves, what do you think of a deficit in our Municipal budget of a million and a half of dollars? And our Lord Mayor has not the ambitious character of yours. He has not opened new boulevards: that of Santafecino cost the Municipality nothing. The paving is paid for by a special loan; not a schoolhouse has been built, nor in fact any public building of any kind. The action of our Municipality is limited simply to sweeping the streets, lighting the city, ("limpieza publica", as it is called) and keeping up a defective "Asistencia Medica" and a corps of Engineers, whose principal duty is to give you the line of the street when you wish to build.

The income of the Municipality this year is to be nearly one and a half million of dollars; the expenditure is set down at 840,000, but what with old debts and interests, also of a shady character, our worthy Intendent is face to face with a deficit of a million and a half dollars! We have apt scholars of the extravagant regime in our little province of Santa Fe.

The Exposition which is being organized by the Sociedad Rural Argentina in Buenos Ayres promises to be a success. The estancieros and "industriales" of the Southern part of our province are taking much interest in it. Through the intervention of the Sociedad Rural Santafecina, 120 applications for space have been made, including 289 distinct objects. I have not got the list, but I have no doubt the Rosario vintages are well represented. Rosario refined sugar will put in an appearance. The refinery is now in working order; the sugar will soon be in the market. It is, of course, of good quality, as the machinery and appurtenances are all first-class. The sugar now being refined is the common Para, bought by Mr. Tornquist at about a penny the pound. By-the-bye, I believe the Government rescinded the decree allowing low-class sugars to enter the country at a low rate of duty. The Refinery will in future have to pay the specific duty on imported sugar. This avowedly is to oblige it to use Argentine sugar.

This, as I pointed ont in a former letter, will render it impossible to make the business pay, and the Government will be called on to shell out the heavy guarantee, unless they see fit—a not unlikely thing—to raise the duty on sugar to 100 per cent. But what, in the name of common sense, I would ask our sapient legislators, what is the particular advantage to be derived by the country by limiting the Refinery to refining native sugars? I cannot see anything in it but a ridiculous vanity. Argentine sugars are precisely those that don't want refining; they sell on a par with lump imported sugar. How then can the Refinery make a profit refining what is practically sufficiently refined for the market. What the government should do is to stimulate the importation of cheap sugars for the poor people by letting them enter at a low rate of duty. In this country people are accustomed to the tallow-coloured sugar from Brazil. High duties stopped its importation with the result of generalizing the use of Tucuman sugar, which is of course far superior, but also far dearer. We want a cheap sugar, which is not produced in the country and never will be. Let in the Moscovado sugars of Brazil, the East Indias and Venezuela on a duty of say 20 o/o. Our sugar industry will not be injured by the step; the poor would consume more, the treasury would be benefitted by it, and not only one refinery but a score might be set a-going without requiring a guarantee.

The gremio of "escribanos," who made fortunes during the land speculation phrensy, are enjoying a "dolce far niente" if not an "otium cum dignitate." It is seldom now that any of the tribe is called on to make out a deed for the purchase or sale of a town lot. But their friend Asmodeus has come to their relief. A brisk trade is commencing and promises to flourish, that is protesting pagarés. During the land excitement, at first almost all the sales were for cash; but when cash gave out the excitement remained as fierce as ever, and town lots were bought and sold on time. The crash came and also the epochs for the payments. Some few will be able to meet their engagements and free their property, which of course does not now represent a third or a half of what it cost them. But a large proportion of purchasers on time either will not or cannot pay. Hence the harvest of protests of bills that is giving occupation to our "escribanos."

The electric storm on Thursday last was very severe and protracted. It commenced at one oclock P. M. and the artillery of heaven kept up a heavy cannonade until ten o'clock at night. Our C of the W has evidently not heard of the late invention of noiseless powder. He uses the native article, manufactured in Rio Cuarto, which makes an awful din. The lightning was incessant and blinding, and the rain was even more than young ducks could stand, accompanied as it was now and then with mild hailstones. The works of the Drainage Company were "flushed" in a manner not provided for in their contract. After all, the storm did no more damage than to frighten the female community out of their five senses. The "beatas" vowed any quantity of candles to the saints and refrained from speaking ill of their neighbours for twenty-four hours.

Personal. Mr. STANDARD, please call up the compositors and P. D. Tell them W P wants a word with them.

How do you do, my friends? for are you not my friends? Have you not for many years put into immortal type the lucubrations of W. P., to say nothing of less renowned writers? I am grateful to you. I have an affection for you. And now, will you allow me to make a slight animadversion. When a word or a phrase is written or printed with inverted commas, you know that the word or phrase is either foreign to the language, a quotation, or when it is used in a peculiar sense, different from its ordinary one—When a word or a phrase is written or printed in italics, it is to draw the attention of the reader, to emphasize a thought or expression, and is usually not a quotation, and of course should not be printed with inverted commas. Now, this is the error you are continually falling into, my children; and you must understand that when I underline a word or sentence, I want it printed in italics, not with inverted commas. If there is no type in the office you should tell the Boss to send to the grocery store at the corner, and buy a pound or two.

ESCUELA DEL COMERGIO DE LA CAPITAL

This new college, which has been established by the decree of the National Government, is being thoroughly organized. Up to the present no such establishment has been opened by the Government in this city. We have a National College to prepare students for the faculties of law, medicine and engineering, and we have Normal Schools to prepare primary school masters and school mistresses. Now lawyers and doctors are very useful people, and we rejoice that they can be prepared by the National Colleges; but the mass of the public are neither lawyers nor doctors, and therefore we think that the new "Escuela del Comercio de la Capital", which is organized to give youth a sound practical commercial or mercantile education so as to prepare useful citizens for trade, business and mercantile industries, was much needed.

This new college will furnish two courses of instruction: one by day which is the regular course and includes 4 years of study; the other is the Night Class and is destined to afford the means to clerks and others who choose to attend the night classes with the object of obtaining instruction, thereby employing their spare time in a laudable manner.

The corps of teachers is composed of well-known, competent, and popular professors; we have only to mention the names of Drs. Wilmar, Canale, Professors Parra, Sotomayor, De la Madrid, Etchabarne, Fontana de Fillippis, Delcourt, Huidobro, and we feel sure that the public will feel pleased with the staff.

The direction of this new establishment has been confided by the Government to Professor Ryan, who, after 28 years of public service, may safely be considered as an experienced educator.

The following is the curriculum of the regular course of studies:—

The Spanish language, writing, commercial arithmetic, commercial geography, bookkeeping by single and double entry, commercial correspondence, custom-house work and fiscal legislation, science applied to trade, industrial drawing and measurements, the fundamental principles and application of the commercial code of laws, outlines of the history of trade, political economy and statistics, and the English, French and Italian languages.

On completing the full course of study, not only will the students he qualified to compete successfully with foreigners who have received similar instruction in the commercial colleges of Europe and the United States, but they will be entitled to receive a diploma of "Périto del Comercio" which will be extended by the college and countersigned by the Minister of Public Instruction.

The new college being of the same category as the National College, Government has ordered that the same rules and regulations shall be enforced in the Escuela del Comercio as are in force in the National College.

In the night classes, intended for clerks who desire to employ themselves by improving their minds, the Spanish, French, English and Italian languages will be taught gratis.

The new college will be supplied with all the modern appliance essentially necessary for the proper instruction of the students. Every effort will be made to produce well-trained, industrious, intelligent and trustworthy men of business possessing a thorough knowledge of all the commercial branches.

In some private schools a few of the commercial studies are taught by paying for them, but now a full, regular and complete course of studies such as are furnished by the commercial and mercantile academies of Europe and the United States can be had free of charge, and parents can have their sons educated so as to become useful citizens, qualified to gain their bread honestly and to enrich themselves by extending and aiding in the development of the trade and commercial prosperity of the Argentine Republic.

Those parents who wish to place their sons in the "Escuela del Comercio de la Capital" should apply at once from 9 to 11 a.m. or from 4 to 6 p.m. at No. 344 Calle Bolivar, so as to have their sons' names entered on the "Matricula" and as only a limited number can be received this year, the sooner they apply the better, before the "Matricula" is filled up.

SHIP-CANAL PROJECTS.

In the early days of railroads, when their possibilities were being recognized, it was generally predicted that canals, amongst other existing modes of conveyance, would find their occupation gone and their usefulness at an end. It was thought impossible that they could withstand the competition of their great rival, and the time was counted not far distant when these water highways, which had so helped along the development of the districts they connected or traversed, would sink into the condition of little more than noisome open drains. With railroads actively canvassing for freight of all kinds at wonderfully low rates, such a fate appeared quite probable; but traffic increased at an astonishing rate, and after some years of hard struggle canals have now firmly established their right to be considered indispensable auxiliaries to the railroads in the carrying system of the country.

It is not likely, however, even with such work as internal canals have done and are still doing, that there will be any material addition to their number. Yet we question if there were ever so many canal projects adopted or under discussion at any one period as there are just now. But these projects are very different concerns from the old-fashioned canal and have much more ambitious aims than to merely help along or even control local traffic. They are designed to allow the passage of the largest ocean vessels, and to shorten ocean voyages by shortening routes, or to enable vessels to carry their cargoes right into the heart of consuming districts instead of unloading at ports more or less distant therefrom. The Suez Canal was constructed to achieve the first object, and the Manchester Ship Canal, now well on the way towards completion, is to demonstrate the feasibility of the other. As usual, success in one direction has encouraged emulation in others, and difficulties not long ago considered insurmountable are now looked upon as only giving greater zest to the exercise of engineering genius and skill. It is true the Panama Canal proved a gigantic failure; but the mistakes have been peculiar to that enterprise, and are in no degree accepted as a set-off against successes already attained. Even should the Panama Canal scheme never be revived, the Nicaragua Canal is an undertaking which may be carried through at no distant date.

This growing interest in ship canals has brought prominently forward the question of shortening the sailing distance between our Eastern ports, and three main systems of artificial waterways are named,—the Cape Cod Canal, from Buzzard's Bay to Barnstable Bay, saving from 70 to 140 miles from Boston to various southern points; the Delaware-New York Bay Canal and the Delaware-Chesapeake Canal. The whole would, it is claimed, give commerce a direct and cheap route from Boston and New York to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk and ports in the Carolina Sounds. In the South a ship canal is suggested by the conformation of Florida, and the idea is likely to take concrete form before long under a charter obtained in 1885 for the construction of such a canal from St. John's River to the Suwanee on the Gulf coast. Such shortening of the voyage to the Gulf of Mexico and Central American countries could not but have a special influence on our commerce with those parts, and although certain not to be undertaken as national enterprises, the several enterprises have quite a national interest.

Abroad there are three ship canals in course of construction and eighteen projected. Apart from the Manchester Ship Canal, already referred to, there are several of these certain, when carried out, to have very material effect on our foreign trade; three of them notably so,—one to divide Ireland, from Galway to Dublin, would shorten by many hours the distance from New York to Liverpool and ports on the Irish Sea; another between the Clyde and Forth, across Scotland, gives the shortest route to countries on the German Ocean; and a third, now being built, cutting through Holstein and connecting the German Ocean and the Baltic, saving the distance and dangers of sailing round Denmark, brings the Baltic ports much nearer to us in point of time than they are now. A glance at the map will give a good idea of what a saving of time and distance will be effected when the new routes are opened. When that shall be, however, it is difficult to say; but so strong is the demand for all quickest possible communication between the various countries, and especially between the two hemispheres, that the date appears to be the only doubtful quantity in the problem.

International commerce is inexorable in its demands for time economizers, and ship canals are in some instances a striking response to these demands. In character and functions they differ from their fore-runners, the internal canals; for whilst the growing demand for speed has called the one into existence, actual or embryo, the others prosper chiefly as carriers of freight in which speed of transmission is quite a secondary consideration.—N. Y. Commercial Bulletin.

Railway Items.

The La Plata Government have finally sold the Temperley-Canuelas branch and the decree "ad hoc" was issued on Tuesday. The successful bidder is Mr. Alexander Henderson, who offered 780,000 dollars gold, but the Government will not get a cent of ready money, for a very simple reason. The railway had contracted two loans with Messrs. Samuel B. Hale and Co. for an aggregate sum of ten million dollars gold, and the Government and Mr. Henderson have agreed that the amount of purchase shall be discounted from the already-mentioned sum. According to the contract just signed, the purchaser is empowered to expropriate lands of the railway not expropriated by the Government. The contract was registered on Tuesday, and from yesterday the line passes over to the purchaser. Though this business is undoubtedly advantageous for all concerned, it is to be hoped the main line will not be sold under the same conditions, that is, that the purchase money will not be swallowed up by debts. According to the figures we recently published, the sale of the Western Railway ought to leave a respectable balance in gold. It would, however, take a wise man to tell the exact amount due on the railway.

A letter from La Plata gives us a few more explanatory particulars about this Cañuelas Branch business. Our correspondent informs us that Mr Henderson represented the Southern Railway Company, who are now in possession of the line. In regard to the financial arrangements we are informed that in the signing of the contract the Provincial Railway Board, so far from obtaining a cent of the money, had actually to make out a "pagare" for £71,000. The Board, according to the letter before us, had two "pagares" out in the market for £227,000, payable to Messrs Samuel B. Hale & Co, who transferred them to Mr. Henderson. These "pagares" were, according to stipulation, to be paid with the proceeds of the sale of the Branch. The Board had consequently to give a "pagare" for the difference between the amount of purchase (£156,000) and £227,000.

Advices from Mercedes announce an important meeting of leading residents with a view to organise a syndicate for the construction of a tramway in that city. The meeting was a great success and the idea was unanimously applauded. We hope to hear soon of the formation of the syndicate. Nothing pays like a tramway in the Plate.

The Board of Public Works have urged Government to approve the plans of two sidings on the Villa Maria and Rufino railway; one between kils. 215 and 218 and the other between kils. 110 and 127 (near Carlota Station).

The following is from the Railway Times:—

The starting point of the Bahia Blanca North-Western Railway at Bahia Blanca is some distance from the present port, but is immediately opposite the docks, for the construction of which a concession has recently been granted to Herr Luis Linck. At the present time the town of Bahia Blanca is about 3 miles from the port; the intervening country is low and swampy. The Great Southern has constructed at the port a pier about 1,615 feet long, at which vessels drawing 28 feet of water can load and discharge their cargoes. The distance from this pier to the open sea is about ten miles, and when a channel has been dredged in the small bar which lies between the port and the sea, ships of any size will be able to enter the harbour, which is at present closed to those drawing more than 20 feet.

"The pier belonging to the Gt. Southern is well provided with cranes, hydraulic lifts, and all other modern appliances, and could easily handle a much larger tonnage than comes to it at present. The new docks, like most Argentine enterprises, are upon a scale somewhat ambitious. They are to extend westward from the mouth of the Naposta stream, are to be fitted with every conceivable description of machinery, the concession is to last for 80 years, the concessionaire is to deposit a sum of $100,000 as security, and the cost of the docks is estimated to be $29,000,000 in gold, or about £5,800,000.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The unfortunate gold preminm tripped yesterday and fell on its head from a height of 23 points. It was stunned and rendered unconscious for a while. Some kind brokers raised it gently, and after professional examination it was found that no bones had been broken or internal injuries sustained, and the probabilities are that the patient will be as lively as ever in a week or ten days.

We received late last night a copy of the note sent by Minister Pacheco to Mr. E. Legarreta President of the Camara Syndical which we hold over for to-morrow. The note is in reference to the revised form of the Commercial Code which will come into force on the 1st of May, and deals exclusively with brokers and transactions on 'Change. It will stop gambling to a large extent.

Very disrespectful remarks were made yesterday about the Immigration figures for the first twelve days of this month. Nobody seemed to know the exact figures, but the falling off as compared with this month last year is said to be tremendous. There is no help for it till gold gets back to a normal price.

The telegrams from Montevideo yesterday were unusually dry. Bolsa matters down there look anemic, and the composition of the new Cabinet does not give unmixed satisfaction.

Some fun may be expected to-day in the Municipal saloons, as the Commissioners have summoned the Lord Mayor to appear and be baited about the city's finances.

The Census gives the population of La Plata at the truly astonishing figure of 64,000!! This must include the last issue of Cedulas

The Argentine Admiralty have ordered the Torpedo Squadron (4) and some cruisers to sail Southwards Ho! touching at Montevideo, Flores Island, Maldonado, Bahia Blanca, San Blas and Patagones. This is just the time of year for a pleasant cruise.

The weather was rather hottish yesterday. Those suffering from influenza declared that the rise in the temperature made them feel worse; but there was a dry champagne twinkle in their eyes as they made the statement. The latest news from Russia is that influenza has broken out afresh all over that vast country, and much more malignantly than the first time, and accompanied by fierce nervous fits. We hadbetter put our "barba en remojo" here.

We were favoured yesterday with a p.p.c. card, in the most mellifluous Portuguese, from our recent distinguished Brazilian visitor, Mr. Bocayuva, whose arrival at Rio was announced three days ago.

Brazil can't get on without fifty millions more shinplasters. Republican financing seems to be the same rotten business everywhere, from France downward. We must in fairness except our little neighbour Banda Oriental.

Our versatile colleague the Courrier is in ecstacies with the financial ideas and plan of campaign elaborated in Cordoba. Borrow more gold at any price, and sell it!! This was Varela's "simple mechanism", Our colleague's peculiar notions, however, are capped by "L. A." in the Prensa, who sees salvation. (1st) In declaring forced currency instead of the present legal tender. (2nd) In an issue of 50 millions more shinplasters under the seductive title of Industrial Bank notes. (3rd) Bounties for industry of all kinds! (4th — the crowning of this wonderful economic edifice) The arrest of all the street Arabs of the city, to turn them into mechanics!! We have no hesitation in saying—and if necessary swearing—that Mr. Healy is a financial Solon compared with L. A. No wonder the finances of the country are going to the douce when such theories find a place in print.

The River Plate Times rushes in as follows where we fear to tread:—"The other day, under the title of 'Almost Gone,' we noted the fact of a young lady having fainted when leaning over a balcony in Calle 33 and almost falling into the street. We see that an esteemed contemporary, under the same title, mentions the same thing having just occurred in Buenos Aires, where a young lady, whilst on the bal of a house looking towards Calle Esmeralda, between Corrientes and Lavalle, suddenly fainted, and would assuredly have fallen to the street but for the promptitude of a policeman on duty, who rushed into the house and pulled her back from her perilous situation. A strange coincidence! We have been told that tight lacing has a good deal to do with the fainting of the fair sex, and that the excess to which it is carried by the young ladies of Montevideo and Buenos Aires threatens more harm to their lungs and life than all the influenza in the world. We, of course, don't believe it, but sincerely trust the young ladies of Calles Treinta y Tres and Esmeralda will not allow this sort of thing to occur again."

There is a rumor that Governor Paz, of Tierra del Fuego, will resign and go to Cordoba as Chief of Police. A naval officer in such a post is a "rara avis"; but there is no reason why a sailor should not make quite as good a policeman as any other man; quite the contrary, as he is accustomed to discipline.

The wrong end of the stick as usual. The Lord Mayor was seized with a sudden fit of economy yesterday and dashed off a ukase suppressing two-thirds of the gangs employed in keeping the streets in what is jocosely called "order" in these latitudes. The result of this hasty step will be a more furious public howl than usual in a month or two, when half the thoroughfares in town become quite impassable.

From Asuncion a queer affair is reported. A commissary on guard at that delightful point on the River Paraguay called Lambaré, saw the red flag of the Platense steamer Cambaceres from his look-out. Blood, revolution and red ruin at once flashed on what he persists in calling his mind, and he telephoned to Asuncion that a steamer full of revolutionists was steaming for the capital. The troops were called to arms; everything was ready for the fight; the town was in commotion, when, lo! the steamer entered and the authorities found that they had been painfully "sold."

Our Cricket Correspondent in Montevideo informs us that on the 3rd and 4th of April the return match between the B. Ayres Club and the home team will be played on the Blanqueada field, and he fully expects the Montevideans to give a better account of themselves than they rendered at Palermo a month ago, as they will be playing on their own ground, which is a very fast wicket compared with the thick-coated grassy one of Buenos Ayres, where their performance must have created an entirely erroneous impression as to their abilities.

Advices from Patagones report the arrival there of the big raft of Andine cypress logs cut at Junin and successfully floated down the Rio Negro by a squad of troopers of the 2nd Cavalry. The raft and its military crew were carried down 350 leagues in eight days, which shows how swift the current of the Rio Negro is.

The most painful and unerring sign of the times is the enormous work laid on the shoulders of Judges Beracochea and Cicorraga, who are everyday at work from dawn to dark ordering embargoes, bankruptcies, liquidations and all the ills commercial flesh is heir to. This is the result of the "leaps and bounds" system of progress. We dare bet that poor Argentina will take to a steadier and more decent pace in future when she gets out of her present pickle.

Bravaix reopened his betting shop on Wednesday night; but the place, the bidders and the auctions were all sicklied o'er with the pale cast of the crisis, and precious little business was done. What a change from a few short months ago.

Number 4106 won the $50,000 gold prize in Wednesday's Lottery at Montevideo. The lucky winner may give himself all the airs he pleases, if he happen to live, move and have his being on this side of the river, as a man with such a sum in his pocket will soon be as rare here as a roaring hot day at the North Pole.

Emperor William's determination to prosecute the Socialists "without mercy" is rather a queer epilogue to his proposed Labour Conference. We wonder what the iron Chancellor thinks of such unskilful playing of the political cards.

They had toast every morning for six weeks. "Madam" said Mr, Slowpay, I am not af raid of pie; I can bravely face home made biscuit; I have never been known to fly from sponge cake; buf," and here he wiped the perspiration from his brow—"but; madam, I quial on toast."

The Colonel Klinger atrocities over the water are assuming a Three Black Crows hue. The Colonel himself declares that they are all pure fiction; and indeed, most people will think they must be when they are asked to believe that a trooper received ten thousand lashes and was then left to be devoured by ants; and that two officers of the regiment were "put out of the way" without their relatives and friends raising a hue and cry. The Colonel has instituted legal proceedings against the Tacuarembo paper that started the affair.

The good news from Rosario is that the Municipality there is bankrupt for 1½ million dollars, and cannot find either Jew or Gentile to lend it a cent. The tax-payers should rejoice, as economy will now be forced on the precious Corporation, just as it has been forced on our magnificent Lord Mayor here.

The crisis seems to have a stimulating effect on the price of natural teeth and lessons in Natural History in the enchanted city of La Plata. The courts there have now two very funny cases before them: One is an action brought by a pedagogue to recover two thousand dollars for lessons in natural history given to a "distinguido joven." The defendant says that the claim is pure moonshine, and rests on no stronger basis than the professor having invited himself to his (the d.j's) estancia, where he lived on the fat of the land for a month; and the only element of natural history in the case was the enormously increased weight and "embonpoint" of the man of science when he returned from the excursion. The other case is that of a lady to recover five thousand dollars for a tooth knocked out by a gay and festive Frenchman while laying about him with his walking-stick during Carnival, in return for a handful of cut paper, maize and bran thrown in his manly face by some young scamps, the lady coming in for one of the whacks meant for them. Neither case is decided yet.

In a library, "I should like something a little historical in character." "How would "The Last Days of Pompeii" suit you?" "Hum! what did he die of?" "An eruption, I believe."

An esteemed Montevidean colleague says: "We are continually receiving letters from Buenos Aires inquiring as to the prospects of employment on this side of the Plate, since things have been going to the bad over there. The majority of these letters are full of nothing but complaints. One writer, who describes himself as an industrious German, after remarking that "Things are getting unbearable here and the watchword is now: "Sauve qui peut" philosophically adds: "If I could alter the present miserable situation of the Paper Republic, I certainly would remain here; but I can't better it, and those who should, won't, so it is of no use to suffer any longer for the faults of others." He therefore intends to leave the Argentine Republic to its fate. Unhappy Argentina!"

There'll be a Labour, and perhaps Food question in this city before long we very much fear. The Lord Mayor's fit of economy, to which we refer in another paragraph, has thrown 1800 men out of work. Add to this the stagnation in building, and the general drawing in of horns going on, and the outlook is not pleasant. The working classes will, perhaps, have a good deal more to say in the settlement of the financial-political muddle than many people think just now.

The fire in Bahia reported by cable last week was caused by the explosion of a barrel of gunpowder in an ironmonger's. A hundred people were killed.

The so-called works on the Riachuelo have been stopped, as all the navvies have caught influenza.

The Mount papers report a singular scuffle in a cafe there between a broker and an army officer. From hot words they came to hard blows, and the broker decided the battle by biting off the end of the officer's nose! We had no idea that a broker could so far forget himself; but perhaps the general fall on the Bolsa over the water had soured his temper a little.

Something specially brutal is promised at Colonia on Sunday next—a fight between an elephant and a bull. It is to be hoped that President Herrera will put his heel on the proposed show.

Signor Cagnoni proposes to have a fine bathing establishment ready for next summer at the Tigre, if Government give him permission. Why not? Bathing accommodation at the Tigre has been a want felt since Creation, and it is rather funny that Signor Cagnoni should be the first man in that rather extended lapse of time who has thought of supplying it; so we wish him success.

Brazil is going to have a Legation building of its own in Montevideo, and will go as far as $150,000 to purchase it. The new 50 millions issue of notes must be set floating in some way.

You can't always judge by appearances; the man who wears a diamond pin may be really wealthy.

The latest news from Mar del Plata is that the outrageous prices charged at the hotels there are frightening away the visitors before the season is over, as their purses can stand the strain no longer. Eight, ten and twelve dollars per head per day are the prices charged. Even millionaires cannot stand this.

We read that South Barracas is not exactly the place for habitual milk-drinkers, as what does duty there for the lacteal fluid is said to be a judicious mixture of dirty water, starch, sheep's brains, lime and white paint!!! Oh! After this a bottle or dry champagne would not be amiss, influenza or no influenza.

A lady, greatly excited, asked to see the editor of a daily paper, and was told it was impossible, the editor being too busy to speak to anyone, no matter who it might be. "Oh, that makes no difference", was her reply, "I shall do all the talking myself."

THE AUTOMATIC POLICEMAN.

It is scarcely necessary to say that he is an American. His father, Mr. John C. Wilson, was indeed a Scotchman; but the Americans allege that he was caught young. The automatic policeman may be called upon—he is "on view"—at 64, Cannon-street. We have called upon him; and we have come to the conclusion that the automatic policeman will add to the glory and efficiency of the Force and to the public safety. In fact, he has already been taken up by "The Public Safety Signal Association" which has its headquarters at the above-named address. The signaller is the automatic "bobby," and

Monthly Line of steamers between New Zealand and London

calling at RIO DE JANEIRO and TENERIFFE

The magnificent steamers of this Company will depart from Rio Janeiro for Plymouth, on their return from New Zealand, as per following tables:

STEAMER	Leave New Zealand	Due at R. de Janeiro	Due at Teneriffe.	Due at Plymouth	Due at Gravesend

paid off, and about 27 millions paper due by the Government to the Provincial Bank; but the sale of this line will materially help the market.

Paper money was felt to be so scarce to-day that many parties had to sell gold to meet their obligations, and it is presumed that this great tightness in the paper market has affected the gold market for Saturday next, as very large gold purchases were made for that date and they say the gold is being re-sold.

Many merchants in a very large way say that their "pagares" are regularly met, and that for political purposes the market crisis is greatly exaggerated. The great drop in the value of stocks and in lands about the town shows where the brunt of the crisis falls, but there is a steady liquidation going on in all these stocks, which will soon be over: the liquidation of building sites and lands will take longer to conclude.

Sr. Don Juan Buela, proprietor of the Telegrafo Maritimo, Montevideo, was welcomed on Change. He reports business brisk down there and things improving.

The Royal Mail s.s. Trent anchored off Flores Island to-day. We expect her mails up in the morning.

Another break in the cable communication with Europe. Messages now come over the Brazilian land line. We believe the hitch is on the Western Brazilian line.

The meeting of creditors called for yesterday in Montevideo by a well-known house down there connected with this market has caused much surprise both here and in Montevideo.

The Report of the Stock Exchange Committee, or let us say Camara Sindical of the Bolsa, is now out in English. It is a most interesting and useful pamphlet, and we advise merchants and others to send to Mr. Legareta for copies to send to their correspondents in Europe.

On the liquidator's counter to-day a magnificent album, to be presented to ex-President Tajes, was held by the Committee, and the signatures of all the principal people in the Bolsa obtained. It is a graceful compliment to so good a man, and will doubtless be appreciated.

On Friday, at 2 o'clock, a meeting of the board of National Public Credit will be held.

The failure of a house in London connected with the Plate is reported. We believe it was not to say in a large way of business with this country, yet there are some bills of exchange drawn on it running.

The New London and Brazilian Bank, we hear, will shortly open a branch in this market.

Messrs Egaña and Company have sold on contract 48,000 bales of alfalfa from their estancia at Belle Ville, Cordoba, to deliver 6000 bales monthly.

Messrs Palma and Parera have sold from their estancia on the Paraua 2000 head of cattle at 4 Nats per head.

We hear of a great contract for cutting railway sleepers in Santiago del Estero just concluded at 20 cents per sleeper.

The steamer Gallicia will sail from Montevideo for Rio and Europe on 16th inst. The Oruba will leave Montevideo for West Coast on 19th inst., and the R.M.S. Trent is posted to sail from here on 18th inst. for Europe.

At a late hour this evening we heard on good authority that President Celman returns to town on Saturday evening, or rather night.

The Mortgage Registry Office gives the following summary of business transacted in the month of February:—

Mortgages in paper, 1,659,891—gold 457,500. This is a most important item and shows what is going on in that line.

The death of Dn. Francisco Chas was announced on change. Deceased was one of our oldest and largest property holders, and esteemed and respected by all who knew him. He must have died at a very ripe old age.

Messrs. Wilkinson and Co. have laid before Government a most important project for constructing a port at Ajo. It has gone to the Engineers.

Messrs. Funes & Lagos, the well-known auctioneers, beg to join issue with our remarks on the sale of stock at the Figura estancia. They maintain that the stock was sold at high prices and as proof favor us with the following list of principal sales at that auction: (to avoid confusion we give the Spanish classification of the animals, as the terms are familiar to farmers)—

The above are the principal sales, as the entire list would be too long for these columns.

The following is the new Managing Committee of the Sala Comercial del Ouco for this year:—Chairman, J. P. Larguia; vice-chairman, A. Regasano; museum director, Charles Lix Klett; secretary, B. Nogueras; treasurer, J. Bidart: directors, M. M. Miranda, E. Zimmermann, F. Souza Martinez, H. Lein. We may remark that Mr. Charles Lix Klett is re-elected Director of the Museum for the fourth time, a well-deserved compliment to his successful and persevering efforts in that arduous post.

The river steamers landed yesterday at Montevideo 22,000 dols. gold from here.

By the French mail steamer Dordogne the English Bank of the River Plate in Montevideo received $47,000 in paper sent from Rio.

Shipbrokers report an amazing movement in the export of grain, principally wheat and maize, both here and up river. The result is very firm freight rates. Rates are quoted at 40 francs or 32s. up river and 35 francs or 28s. in this port. The supply of grain is very heavy, and the tonnage in the river is not able for the moment to cope with the requirements of exporters.

Arrangements were spoken of to-day respecting the financiering of two large "cauciones" in National Bank Shares. The matter ended in a compromise that saves the market from a deluge of shares this month.

The gold market had nervous fits and starts at the second ring, changing from weak to firm in a most erratic fashion and perplexing all. Nearly half a million was sold for to-morrow at 15 4o to 152½, rising then to 155, and closing at 155. The speculation for Saturday showed a revulsion of speculative feeling, showing that some people are buying back already; about a quarter of a million was sold at 152 o/o to 156, closing rate. One hundred thousand dollars were sold for the end of the month at 156 to 158 o/o, closing rate.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring:—
